President Denise Chapel, CGBA, Concludes Successful 2018-2019 SALGBA Term

BEREA, KY, April 2019 – Denise Chapel concluded her term as the 2018-2019 SALGBA President this past month. Chapel will become a past president, serve on as an Executive Board Member for two years, and will serve as chair of the Nominations Committee for one year.

Denise has been recognized locally and nationally as the first African-American to lead SALGBA as President.

Chapel is from Missouri. Where she is Director of Vendor Relation with the State of Missouri Consolidated Health Care Plan. She has been with them for almost ten years. Before working with the Missouri Consolidated HealthCare Plan, Chapel worked as a Director of Outreach in the Missouri State Treasurer’s Office. Chapel has been a SALGBA Board Member since April of 2014. She received her Certified Government Benefits Administrator Certification in 2015.

Chapel served as President during the largest SALGBA National Conference this past April in Fort Worth, Texas. There were over 700 attendees, 27 state entities and over 80 exhibitors.

On April 9th, at the business meeting at the SALGBA 2019 Conference, Chapel passed the title of president to David Hines. Hines works as the Director of Benefits for Metro Nashville Public Schools.

We would like to thank Denise Chapel for all the hard work and time she put into being the president of SALGBA for the past year. We look forward to continuing the opportunity to work with her on the SALGBA board.

The State and Local Government Benefits Association (SALGBA) is a national organization whose purpose is to provide its members with educational and collaborative support. Since its inception in 1982, SALGBA members have held informative and eventful conferences in major cities across the country.
